

Networking Cabling Infrastructure

More Meaningful Technologies

The Panduit Solution

Panduit solutions combine meaningful sector specific proficiency derived from extensive experience in financial services, with a comprehensive array of the highest quality network infrastructure products. Our unique fiber cabling solutions are essential in any next generation network infrastructure with the Signature Core™ fiber cabling system allowing extended reach to over 200M and highly versatile to use in single mode fiber applications. Space-saving HD Flex™ 2.0 fiber enclosures, unmatched patented PanMPO™ fiber connectors for fast 10G to 100G Ethernet migration and converged network connectivity systems decrease footprint, lower capital costs and reduce maintenance. Our cabling solutions can save up to 50% of physical space compared to traditional products, and help to create high-performance secured networks. Panduit leads the way in delivering the ultimate in flexibility enabling profound communication systems with ultimate results in reach, design, cost savings and highly agile and scalable infrastructure framework ready to take on future data demands.

More Meaningful Connections

Connected Financial Services

Technology puts the 'service' into financial services, helping to create the connected, accurate and secure experience that today's customer or trading partner expects.

Uptime is Money

Maintaining high data transfer speeds and uptime are highly meaningful for financial institutions. A totally reliable network infrastructure is the key to avoiding latency, availability and security challenges that could cost millions in mere seconds. Transformation of typical high density systems into evolutionary architectures is essential to deliver the network performance needed today and in the future.

More Meaningful Upsides

Connect with Panduit

As the number of connected devices increase, so does the bandwidth required and the fight to keep latency challenges in their place. Panduit has a vast portfolio of equipment, solutions and expertise to help you put the right infrastructure in place to reap the benefits of a totally connected organization. From our high-density fiber solutions to our offerings that help manage and identify cabling, along with our ergonomic tooling and terminations makes our network cabling easier and more cost-effective to fit, maintain and upgrade. We are ready to rise to the challenge of meeting your network requirements today, and ensuring you have the performance headroom, and built-in longevity, to face the future with confidence.
